

Chapter 8

NABI MUSA (A.S.)

Nabi Musa (A.S) was a Prophet of Allah.

Of all the Prophets, the name of Nabi Musa (A.S) comes the most number of times in the Qur'an.

Nabi Musa (A.S) had a brother named Harun. He was also a Prophet.

Nabi Musa (A.S) was given Taurat, a book from Allah.

Nabi Musa (A.S) could do miracles.

When he was born the king called Firawn was killing all the small boys of Bani Israel because he was scared one of them would grow up and destroy him.

Nabi Musa's mother put him in a basket in the river to save him and Allah protected him. He landed at the castle of Firawn. Bibi Asiya, Firawn's wife picked up Nabi Musa and asked Firawn if they could adopt him and he agreed. This way Nabi Musa grew up in Firawn's palace.

Bibi Asiya was kind but Firawn was mean.

When Firawn and Asiya had adopted Nabi Musa, they needed someone to feed him. They told their servant to find someone and she found Nabi Musa's mother to feed him.

When Nabi Musa (A.S) was a baby he put burning coal in his mouth, and it affected his speech.

When Nabi Musa (A.S) grew up, Allah made him a Prophet.

Nabi Musa (A.S) told his people to believe in Allah. He told his people to do good deeds.

Allah told Nabi Musa (A.S) that Firawn is an evil king and to save the people of Bani Israel.

When Firawn found out about this he wanted to kill Nabi Musa. Allah told Nabi Musa to throw his stick. When he threw the stick, it turned into a snake. Firawn thought it was magic. He told his magicians to do the same and their sticks turned into little snakes.

Nabi Musa (A.S) threw his stick again and it turned into a big snake and ate all the small snakes.

Then the magicians believed in Nabi Musa (A.S) as a Prophet.

Nabi Musa (A.S) and his followers were able to run away from Firawn and they came to the Red Sea. He threw his stick in the Red Sea and Allah parted the Red Sea for him and they crossed through.

Firawn said that the sea has opened for him and he started to cross it, but Allah closed the sea and he drowned.

Nabi Musa (A.S) and his people were safe.

We love Nabi Musa (A.S).
